Of Interest to Women. and Eckington. It comprises about forty acres, and is said to be worth upward of $50,000. The old manslon standing on the estate and many another, is a passing one, but it to appear dry on the surface. Use the folis worthy of a word of caution.

An Interesting Comparison Established Between Four Prominent Actresses. Berry. Chief Justice Chase purchased the The Hand of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

we are assured that all foreign matter- Add the orange flower water very slowly dust and clogged secretions-is expelled. | to the benzold I cannot believe in a spasmodic cleansing of the face which requires daily friction to remove all extraneous substances from MRS. KATE CHASE'S HOME. frequently leaves the cutical dry and Friends Aided Chief Justice Chase's parched, even when the operation is performed under the most favorable circum-

The Austrian woman are noted for their money. She had been unable to pay the tine complexions. They use quantities of interest for several years, and it aphot water on their faces not only in bathing, but they dip cloths in bot water and believe the cloths more efficacious than the steamer, they also have the additional warmth, not being painful to the eyes as the steam is.

To those women who persist in steaming I suggest that no apparatus is required. A chafing dish or even a tea kettle will do. The water must boil and the subject cover her head and focus the steam wherever

The following lotion is very agreeable to use after face steaming, particularly if the skin seems tender and appears very

Lotion (Pol Vernon)-Rose water, 900 grammes; tincture myrrh, 10 grammes; tincture appoponax, 10 grammes; fincture peared impossible to save the old homebensoin, 10 grammes; essense of citron. 4 which includes the face rarely are bene- inated from the system the skin is apt for fited by the steaming process. The fad, a time, until it is accustomed to the change, lowing lotion to allay this dryness:

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER.

Daughter to Remove a Mortgage. Washington, D. C., Feb. 16 .- The transstances, which, of course, are in one's fer of the Edgewood property, formerly own home, where the patient may remain belonging to the late Chief Justice Chase, some hours at least before exposure to the to Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, his daugh-An occasional face steaming in one's own ter, was recorded on Friday. It had been dressing room will do no harm, but it is sold under foreclosure just one year ago triffing with a very precious possession to and was bought in by the trust company subject the face to the heat of the that held the mortgage. The purchasers steamer, and within an hour or so to a agreed to give Mrs. Sprague one year in chilling wind or a frosty, penetrating cold. which to raise the $42,000 purchase is situated between the Soldiers' Home and Eckington. It comprises about forty

The old mansion standing on the estate was built nearly one hundred years ago by an old colonial settler by the name of property soon after he was appointed to the Bench, and resided there up to the time

JAY GOULD'S DAUGHTER.

grammes; the ture of quillaia, sufficient quantity to make an emulsion. (For general purposes gramme is equal to 25½

Several prominent people subscribed the required amount to secure the release of the mortgage. Foremost among them was a financial. The "business affined as financial. The "business and its plantitum in the required amount to secure the release of the mortgage. Foremost among them was a financial. Harriett Hubbard Ayer Tells

Women How to Lose
Years.

Vapor Baths for the Face as a Means to Beauty Described by an Expert.

Women accustomed to a dally serub which includes the face rarely are bene eral purposes gramme is equal to 25½ the mortgage. Foremost among them was Henry Villard, the millionaire railroad magnate, who was a personal friend of the Chief Justice. It is said that Mr. Chase many years ago had lent a helping hand to Mr. Villard, when the latter was a poor, unknown immigrant in a strange offest, but it is extremely useful in harden-tion of flines and wrinkles. If you are not circumstanced so that massage is feasible, you can vourself ensity learn to manipulate vour face and throat where lines and fabbiness are most destructive to beauty. As the fiesh decreases and the fat is eliminated from the system the skin is apt for

THE DISH OF THE SEASON.

Holland House.

Noisettes d'Agneau du Printemps a la Bercy. To prepare the noisettes, or nuts, cut out of the leg or shoulder six kernels about the size of a hazelnut for each person. Season with salt leave them slightly rare. Have ready some blanched marrow, also rounds of thin toast nicely browned and laid upon a hot dish. Arrange the kernels of lamb upon the tonst and place upon them the marrow cut in dice and pour around them a sauce Bercy.

and pepper; then either boil or saute them in butter, but in either case

Chop fine three or four shallots and fry them to a light yellow in a small quantity of butter; then add a wineglassful of old wine and allow to reduce one-third. Add half a cupfu! of meat glace, a very little each of red and white pepper, and incorporate one-quarter of a pound of butter, stirring all the while. When perfectly smooth stir in the juice of one lemon and a small quantity each of chopped taragon and chentil. Take great care that while the sauce becomes smooth and well mixed, it does not actually boll. Pour it round the kernels, garnish and send to the table steaming hot.

CHARACTER IN THE HANDS OF FAMOUS WOMEN.

The lady known as Queen Stella Gonzales, to whom has been intrusted the reading of the hands of women distinguished in the world of art, letters and society for the Journal, comes from a long ancestral line skilled in divination. She is the head of a band of Spanish gypsies, and, fresh from her successes at European courts, comes to this country for the purpose of establishing a college of palmistry. It is scarcely necessary to add that the palmist knows nothing of

MRS. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.

A hand thus formed indicates that the owner is one who is swayed by shape. Form and beauty in outward appearances win her quicker than abilities. She will conceive truth under beauty only. She is a woman who is fond of leisure; she is quite indolent, in fact. Without reflection she will attach herself to the picturesque side of things and of ideas. Inclined to be enthusiastic, the daily monotony of life becomes burdensome. She has great ambitions and desires to become celebrated.

Mrs. Potter's writing denotes a strong, emotional, ather wilful temperament. Its chief characteristic is its womanliness, and it does not lack in dignity. It is clean and evinces a loving nature with an overweening desire for approbation. It is an educated, high-bred hand, but gives no strong impression of dramatic gifts.

Mrs. Langtry's writing gives no evidence of the dramatic instinct, and curiously enough, it is not tht typical angular British gentlewoman's chirography. It has the characteristics of a plunger, and this is uncommon though not rare in delicately bred English women of Mrs. Langtry's former social status. It is affected and is absolutely devoid of true spontaneity. It is not the writing of a woman really content with herself. She loves money, is shrewd, and not apf to devote much time to philanthropy.

Mme. Bernhardt's writing is the expression of an absolutely unique temperament-sensitive, delicate, exquisite, yet not weak or even tremulous. The ideal predominates and the aesthetic element controls. Note the perfect refinement of the paper, white with pale gray border, the very apotheosis of stationery, and see the grim mask and the "quand meme." You have here the key to the woman's character.

Miss Davenport's handwriting denotes the emotional, self-reliant, brilliant, impetuous woman-strong in her likes and violent in her hatreds; generous, dramatic and impulsive. It is a most interesting contrast to Mme. Bernhardt's delicate penmanship, a contrast made more striking from the fact that the two women play the same tragic roles--one in French; the other in English.

GOING ON TO-DAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornellus Vanderbilt will Mr. John Downing gives a dinner to-night occurs at Sherry's. give a dinner to-night before the Patri- at the Walderf.

Griswold, Mitchell, Thorn, and Thorn.

Chesney, of San Francisco, and the Misses | Mrs. Stanley Walker Dexter, Mrs. Walter | Jenuings and Mrs. Frank Baldwin Wesson,

Mrs. James A. Serymser, of No. 107 East claims to be the home of the new woman and very pretty.

Mrs. Flanders is an excellent watch strip leaves and roll clears with perfect Marcellus, Michigau, is the town that business with success. She is blonde looking.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Mme. Recamier and Lady Holland Miss Edna Belcher does special office work | were far too clever to underrate the value at the Walderf.

A number of California indies will give at the Walderf.

A number of California indies will give at the Walderf.

A number of California indies will give at the Walderf.

A number of California indies will give at the Walderf.

A number of California indies will give at the Walderf.

Francis Fischer Powers, in Carnegle Hall.

Francis Fischer Powers, in Carnegle Hall.

The last deacing class, chaperoned by morning musicale at the Walderf.

Mrs. James A. Serymser, of No. 107 East claims to be the home of the new woman described at length in a recent number of the new w